

The FAA Safety Team presents:

FAASTeam Flight Instructor Forum

Aviation educators are vital and influential; they are the gateway for those entering pleasure, business, and commercial flying. Instructors advance pilots through a regulated system of certificates and ratings, transitioning pilots to different aircraft and technologies, and ensuring that pilots satisfy FAA, insurance, and flight school or company recurrency requirements. Though the reasons for increased attrition among students and other pilots are many, instructors often represent the first and last lines of defense to motivate pilots to continue in aviation. This discussion is an opportunity to collaborate and develop best practices, to mitigate the risks identified in the discussion, for both the instructor and the student. Address the responsibilities of aviation instructors in the training process, discuss how aviation instructors can enhance their professional image, and offer suggestions and sources of information to assist in professional development.

Together as a Team, the Instructors and Designated Pilot Examiners can combine their extensive knowledge and experience with sound judgment to create and provide the most comprehensive and effective pilot training experience, followed by a reliable and effective
